Q2) a) Translate the following passage into English :

[10]

तुम्ही व्यायाम करण्यापूर्वी जर भरपूर जेवण घेतले तर तुम्हाला सुस्ती किंवा स्नायूत पेटके येणे अथवा अतिसार जाणवेल. त्याचे कारण तुमचे स्नायू आणि तुमची पचनसंस्था, तुमच्या शरीरातील ऊर्जा मिळविण्यासाठी एकमेकांशी स्पर्धा करत असतात. त्यामुळे तुमच्या शरीरातील रक्त एकाचवेळी दोन कामे करण्याचा प्रयत्न करते. तुमच्या शरीरातील रक्त ज्या भागात त्याची गरज आहे त्या भागात जात असते. जेव्हा तुम्ही व्यायाम करता तेव्हा काही रक्त तुमच्या पोटापासून दूर नेले जाते, त्यामुळे पचनक्रिया व्यवस्थित होत नाही. तुम्ही व्यायाम करण्यापूर्वी न खाणे हेही वाईट असू शकते. कारण व्यायाम करताना रक्तातील शर्करा कमी होवून तुम्हाला थकल्यासारखे, घेरी आल्यासारखे वाटते. त्याचा तुमच्या मानसिक क्षमतेवर परिणाम होतो.

OR

Paraphrase the following poem:

[10]

When you are at home I have no peace
I can't find a quiet nook;
And time and again you come to me:
“Dady, read me a book !”

A timid question a hesitant step
For often you've heard my quirk
“Another time then, my little chap
You see I'm trying to work!”

b) Make a precis of the following extract and suggest a suitable title to it:[10]

Noise pollution creates temporary and permanent problems in human beings. Noise pollution can have physical, psychological and physiological effects. This harmful noise is created at various sources .

People subjected to continuous noise may find themselves deaf or have temporary hearing problems. There could also be damage to the tympanic membrane. These are some of the physical effects. Headaches, rise in the blood pressure, loss of memory and even reduction in vision are the physiological effects. In extreme cases there may be heart attacks too. Psychological effects - Fatigue, irritation, emotional disturbances are some. Others are depression and frustration.

In factories, workers can be given ear plugs or noise helmets. Heavy vehicles should not be allowed entry into narrow roads and residential areas. Indiscriminate blowing of horns should be banned. Noise level during festivals should be monitored and controlled. Protective green belts should be established to separate residential areas and industries.
